

Talking About Suicide for Community Members

The square Resource is an educational program designed to help community members, community-based service providers, primary health care and specialist health workers respond appropriately and effectively with people who are at risk of suicide. For more information, visit www.square.org.au

Talking About Suicide is a three hour or all day training program for community members to gain the knowledge and skills in order to respond to people at risk of suicide in their community. The training will include background information on suicide in Australia, exploration of risk factors and warning signals, assessing suicide risk, how to respond to suicide risk and building hope and resilience for the future.
